From a moment to a legacy.

A practical guide to gathering, shaping and sharing a life story.

01 · Gather your memories

Begin with the people, places and events you want to remember. Photos, letters, recipes and voice recordings can help you find a starting point. Our guides and prompts are available without signing in.

02 · Shape a chapter

Give each story a title, a date or life stage, and a short introduction. Describe what happened, how it felt, and why you still remember it. Keep uncertain details marked so relatives can help verify them.

03 · Connect the generations

Invite a relative to add context through a conversation. Ask what they remember differently. Keep each person’s perspective clear instead of combining different memories into a single assumed account.

04 · Choose what to share

Decide which stories belong with close family and which you are comfortable making public. Confirm the available privacy controls before uploading personal material. Save an independent copy of everything important.
